There is a young man in Des Moines, Iowa, whose brain "ticks like a watch." He runs on tick, as it were.

The sportsmen in Maine have run up a phenomenal record so far this season. The have shot twelve persons for game, five of them fatally.

Sometimes there is something in a name and sometimes there isn't. Mr. Wolf, a rich Chicago man, will feed 10,000 poor children on Thanksgiving day.

As an illustration of the business depression in Germany it is stated that while in October last year there were 153 applications for each 100 vacant situations, last October there were 198 applications.

It is said that the English people drink every year 208,000,000 cubic feet of beer. The Englishman goes in for solidity and hence he takes his beer by the cubic foot.

A negro who ran for the Legislature in Ohio at the last election made a phenomenal run. He got a total of eight votes, seven besides his own. They don't draw the color line up there; oh, no.

The oil field in Texas is expanding. A gusher has been recently turned in thirty miles from Beaumont. It runs a hundred and fifty barrels a day of fine lubricating oil, which is more valuable than the Beaumont fuel oil.

Mr. Hugh O. Pentecost rises to remark that Andrew Carnegie is "a conscious or an unconscious humbug." Maybe so, but he has a very good way of showing it, and making the country hanker for more humbugs of the same kind.

Great Britain has purchased $16,000,000 worth of horses and mules in this country for the Boer hunt. There is a good deal of sympathy for the Boers in this country but the horse and mule men are not doing any kicking.

Mr. C. Cook, who went to Syracuse, N. Y,, with two cents in his pocket and by close application to business amassed an estate of $700,000, has concluded that he can get along on $100,000, and divided the rest among his children, which is better than a family squabble over it after he passes away.

LOCAL DOTS.

— Rev. J. A. Dorritee will preach at the First Presbyterian church at the usual service this morning and at St. Andrews' at night.

— The British brig Dixon Rice cleared yesterday for Puerto Plata with a cargo of lumber consigned by Franks & Co., of New York.

— The diphtheria quarantine at the residence of Mr. C. W. Worth has been raised. Friends of the family will note with pleasure that the little patient has recovered.

— The Interstate Telephone Company has just completed its line to the menhaden fisheries at Old Brunswick. Southport people are now clamoring for an extension of the line to that town.

— The November dances of the several german clubs in Wilmington will be given this week—L'Agile on Monday night; L'Arioso on Tuesday night, and the Terpischorean Club on Tuesday night.

— The STAR is requested to state that the Piano Club will have its regular meeting Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock at Ludden & Bates' music store on Princess street. A full attendance is desired.

— Manager Schloss says the company presenting "The Gay Mr. Goldstein" at the Opera House to-morrow night is as clever as money and brains can put together, and as a farce comedy there will be nothing better to offer.

— Rev. W. D. Beckmon, of Augusta, Ga., will preach at the Front Street Advent Church at 11 A. M., and 7:30 P. M. to-day. Monday night a minister and a deacon will be ordained. The public is invited to these services.

— Much interest was manifested by the local sports in the Virginia-Carolina football game at Norfolk yesterday. But when the score of 23 to 4 in favor of Virginia was announced the interest at once subsided. Carolina will close the season with Clemson at Charlotte Thanksgiving.

TO SEND TROOPS TO CHARLESTON.

Movement On Foot to Have N. C. Military Attend the Expositios.

It is understood that Governor Aycock is at the head of a movement in the State to send one whole regiment to Charleston during "North Carolina Week," which will come the latter part of January. The regiment is to be composed of companies selected from the three North Carolina regiments, giving precedence to the senior companies in each.

It is also said to be the Governor's intention to have the twelve companies and the Heavy Artillery from Charlotte, which is not in either regiment, assemble at Wilmington and embark from here on a Goverament transport, which has been promised. The North Atlantic squadron will be at Charleston about that time and it is expected that one could be gotten here with little difficulty. It is the plan for the State to pay the cost of the trip.

BIG DEALER IN RAW FURS.

Perhaps few people in the city appreciate the fact that in Wilmington we have one of the largest dealers in raw furs in the entire South, barring none.

That dealer is Mr. Samuel Bear, Sr., who has offices and warerooms at No. 18 Market street, and a large storage capacity in other sections of the city. Mink, o'possum, fox and raccoon skins and furs of all description find ready sale at the store at highest prices and quotations may always be had for the asking.

Parties who have furs to ship would do well to correspond with Mr. Bear, who not only disposes of the large shipments he receives in domestic markets but he already has a very extensive foreign trade.

Men's Meeting To-day.

Rev. J. A. Dorritee will address a mass meeting of men at the Y. M. C. A. this afternoon in the closing service of the week of prayer. There will be a twenty-minute song service just preceding the service and the programme will be a highly enjoyable one. All men are invited.

Last Quarterly Conferences.

The last quarterly conferences of the year for the Methodist churches of Wilmington will be held this week as follows: Fifth Street church, Monday night; Grace, Tuesday night; Bladen, Wednesday night, and Market, Thursday night.

THE SUPERIOR COURT

Another Term for Trial of Criminal Cases Only Will Convene To-morrow.

JUDGE O. H. ALLEN PRESIDING

Three Capital Cases Are for Trial and Several Others of Importance, Which Will Combine to Make a Busy Week---Jurors Summoned.

Although only two weeks have elapsed since a one week term of the New Hanover Superior Court for the trial of criminal cases was held in Wilmington, another will be convened tomorrow morning, Judge Oliver H. Allen, of Kinston, presiding.

Upon the close of this week's term there will be no more court until Jan. 6th, 1902, when Judge E. W. Timberlake will preside at the criminal term which will continue for two weeks and also at the two weeks' term for the trial of civil cases which comes immediately after the criminal term with an interim of a week during which Judge Timberlake will hold Onslow Superior Court.

Although short, this week's term of the court will be a notable one. Three capital cases are to be tried and another which has excited much interest is that of N. L. Smith, formerly manager of Ludden & Bates' Southern Music House, in this city, who is charged with embezzlement. The latter case will likely be tried on Wednesday.

There are 33 cases in all on the docket and about 20 of the defendants are in jail. The jail cases will, of course, be given the preference.

The capital cases are those of the negro, John Wallace, charged with the murder of Will Dudley in "Brooklyn" some time ago, and Hector McLaughlin and E. Tiner, both white, who are charged with burglary in the first degree in that they entered the house of Mrs. Lisigen and stole a number of articles of jewelry and clothing during the recent Elks' Carnival.

In the case of Wallace an effort was made by his attorneys, John H. Gore, Jr., and Robert Ruark, Esqs., to induce Solicitor Duffy to accept a submission of murder in the second degree, but this the Solicitor declined to do upon the ground that the case as presented to him was devoid of any mitigating circumstances whatever and a jury should say as to the degree. His action in this is very generally commended.

R. G. Grady, Esq., will appear by appointment of the court as attorney for McLauchlin and Tiner. The court will also likely give him additional counsel betore the case is called. Both defendants were arraigned at the last term of court and pleaded not guilty to the charge. The docket is a very heavy one and it is doubtful if it can be completed during the one-week term. Thursday will no doubt be observed as a holiday by the court. The following jurors have been summoned for the week.

Marcus W. Jacobi, Jesse E. Smith, John H. Hintze, W. E. Merritt, J. A. McGeachy, R. W. Wallace, S. J. Davis, James F. Post, C. W. Hewlett, Mike Carroll, M. M. Parker, John S. Divine, N. L. Smith, M. H. P. Clark, C. R. Branch, W. T. Bannermann, John Simon, Frank H. Miller, George T. Hewlett, J. J. Williams, John H. Brunjes, W. M. Wise, T. B. Cowan, F. W. Ortmann, Jr., W. B. Clark, H. A. Burr, I. B. Rhodes, J. S. Grimes, L. B. Pennington, S. Solomon, R. S. Haddock, Jesse Wilder, S. Z. Eggleston, J. Weill, Thos. Quinlivan, Frank P. Lamb.

"QUO VADIS" THURSDAY NIGHT.

Mammoth Production Coming to Wilmington Thanksgiving Matinee and Night.

A mammoth production of "Quo Vadis" comes to the Opera House next Thursday matinee and night. The famous book has been so universally read that the dramatization of it is eagerly welcomed. The version of the play follows the book closely and deals with the subject in a reverent spirit, thereby earning the plaudits, not only of the press and general public, but of the clergy and the conservative element.

The stage settings are said to be unusually elaborate and present the extravagantly furnished Roman Palaces in a remarkably realistic manner. The scenic effects form a fitting back ground for some very capable acting, the company presenting "Quo Vadis" being an exceptionally strong one. That "All the World Loves a Lover," was never more conclusively proven than in the case of Vinicius and Lygia, whose pretty love story of the play while sombre, is lighted up by good comedy and a happy termination.

Catholic Bazaar.

On Wednesday of this week, preceding Thanksgiving, the ladies of St. Thomas' Sanctuary Society will hold a bazaar at Hibernian Hall for the benefit of the church fund. Refreshments will be served, and an admission fee of 25 cents for adults and 10 cents for children under 14 years of age will be charged.

Tented Minstrels.

Yesterday the city was billed for the coming on Wednesday night of Harrison Brothers "New and Ancient South Minstrels," a colored aggregation, which will exhibit under canvas at the extension of Red Cross street. The troupe travels in railroad cars especially adapted to its use.

For LaGrippe and Influenza use CHENEY'S EXPECTORANT.

BIG CONTRACT FOR CEMENT.

Largest Award in the South Secured by a Wilmington Firm—Coal, Cement and Supply Company.

The largest contract for cement perhaps ever given in the South has just been awarded to The Coal, Cement and Supply Company, of this city.

The contract is for nearly four hundred car loads of the material and is to be used by the Catawba Power Company, of Rock Hill, S. C., which will shortly begin the construction of a mammoth plant on the Catawba river, near Rock Hill, for the purpose of generating electricity and transmitting the power to the numerous cotton mills and towns in that vicinity. It will be one of the largest electric power plants in the entire South and the cement, of course, is to be used in building the dam and other appliances for harnessing the stream and devoting its undeveloped power to the uses of the enterprising promoters.

The Coal, Cement and Supply Company will furnish for the contract its well known brand of Giant Portland cement. The award to a local firm speaks well for Wilmington as a distributing point and suggests the possibilities of the future when its unbounded advantages of water and rail shipment are considered.

FUNERAL OF GEORGE CHADBOURN.

Held Yesterday Morning From First Presbyterian Church—Floral Offerings.

In the presence of a very large gathering of friends and relatives, the funeral services over the remains of the late George Chadbourn were held yesterday morning at 10:30 o'clock from the First Presbyterian church.

The services were conducted in an impressive manner by the Rev. Dr. J. M. Wells, the pastor, and the music by the choir was especially sweet and appropriate to the death of one so young and of such bright promise. Among the selections were "Lead Kindly Light" and "Nearer, My God, to Thee." Mrs. W. L. Latta rendered with much effect the solo, "Some Day We'll Understand."

The floral offerings were many and very handsome. One of the prettiest of the number was a Maltese cross design which was sent by the Greek letter fraternity, "Alpha Tau Omiega," of which deceased was a member at the University. Prof. Collier Cobb, of the University faculty and Mr. H. B. Short, Jr., a student at the University were here to attend the funeral.

The interment was at Oakdale, and the pall bearers were as follows: Honorary, Messrs. B. G. Worth, Chas. H. Robinson, Donald MacRae and Prof. Collier Cobb, of the University of North Carolina; active, Messrs. H. B. Short, Jr., of Chapel Hill; Louis Hall, Walter Daggett, Champ McD. Davis, Geo. P. James and Haywood Faison.

RAILROAD SCHEDULE CHANGES.

Extra Train Service On W., C. & A.—Other Slight Alterations Over System.

Beginning to-day a new schedule goes into effect on practically all the roads controlled by the Atlantic Coast Line. The changes for the most part are minor, with the exception of those pertaining to the additional train which will be put on the W., C. & A. road to-morrow. This train will leave Wilmington daily, except Sunday, at 6 A. M., arrive at Florence at 9:25 A. M. and Charleston at 1:10 P. M. It will arrive in Wilmington at 11:30 P. M., and will leave Charleston at 4:20 P. M. and Florence at 8:15 P. M.

The only other changes in arrivals and departure of trains here are that the evening train from the North, formerly arriving at 6:15 P. M., will arrive at 6 o'clock, and the Southern train will arrive at 1:40 P. M., instead of 1:25 o'clock, as heretofore.

The Charleston and Wilmington Pullman sleeping car line has been discontinued, the last car arriving in Charleston Friday night. The last car left Charleston yesterday morning.

Stricken With Paralysis.

A telegram to Capt. Preston Cumming yesterday brought the unwelcome news to him that his brother, Capt. James D. Cumming, so well and favorably known in Wilmington, had suffered a stroke of paralysis at his home, No. 547 Madison street, Brooklyn, N. Y., on the night previous. The telegram did not give particulars beyond that since the stroke Capt. Cumming had been practically unconscious. Capt. Cumming is well known here as the commander of "Cumming's Battery" which played such a conspicuous part in the war for the Confederacy. Hundreds of friends in Wilmington hope for his early recovery, though the worst is feared.

The New Brick Factory.

A portion of the sand hill on the site of the factory for the Hydraulic White Brick Company near the S. A. L. depot is being removed by laborers preparatory to beginning work on the new building. The main building of the factory will be 110x40 feet in size, with two ells of 20x50 feet each. The machinery has been ordered, but as it has to be made to order, it will be several months before it is ready for installation.

A Correction.

George Honnet, Jr., the Optician, wishes to correct the idea many persons have that he has left the city.

He is at George Honnet's Jewelry Store, No. 12 North Front street, and as fully equipped as ever to serve his patrons.

It is Dr. J. H. Honnet who has located in New York City.

MEMORIAL SERVICES.

Elks Will Observe Programme of Fitting and Fervent Exercises Sunday.

SPECIAL MUSIC ARRANGED.

Oration by Fred Harper, Esq., of Virginia. Annual Charity Collection Will be Taken—Committee in Charge Has Done Well.

Following a precedent long established and in pursuance of specific instructions from the Grand Lodge, Elks everywhere on next Sunday will assemble at some convenient place for their respective lodges and hold a reverent and fervid service in honor of departed brethren who have passed away during the twelve months preceding.

The service this year by Wilmington Lodge No. 533, of this city, will be of an elaborate and especially appropriate nature. The exercises will be held in the Opera House at 3 P. M., and members of the local lodge and visiting Elks will assemble in their Temple on North Front street and march to the services in a body.

All arrangements are now about complete for the observance and an elaborate programme is in the hands of the printers. The musical features will be especially noteworthy and will call into requisition some of the very best talent in the city. The exercises will open with a prelude by an orchestra consisting of Miss Norma Foster, violin; Mr. S. A. Schloss, violin; Mr. C. F. W. Rehder, clarinet; Mr. W. A. Martin, flute; Mr. J. E. Willson, cornet, and Mr. Robert Morris, slide trombone.

Dr. Charles T. Harper, Exalted Ruler, will then formally call the lodge to order and those assembled will sing the hymn, "The Shadow of the Evening Hour." A prayer will be offered by Rev. Dr. S. Mendelsohn, rabbi of the Jewish synagogue and, then will follow lodge exercises according to the ritual of the order.

The anthem, "Lead Kindly Light" will be rendered by a male quartette composed of Messrs. C. H. Cooper, R. F. Fowler, J. S. Williams and H. K. Holden, and divine blessing upon the service will be invoked by the Rev. Dr. James Carmichael, rector of St. James' parish.

Mrs. E. K. Bryan will sing a selected solo and then will follow the oration of the day by Fred Harper, Esq., of Lynchburg, Va.

Mr. Harper is a native of Wilmington and a brother of the Exalted Ruler, Dr. Harper, who will preside. He is a law partner of Senator Jno. W. Daniels, of Virginia, and an orator of splendid eloquence and grace. His coming will be especially pleasing to hundreds of his boyhood friends in Wilmington.

The remainder of the programme will be taken up with musical selections and other features, including the annual collection for charity purposes. One of the additional musical features will be the rendition by the quartette of "When the Mists Have Rolled Away," adapted to special music. For all the musical selections Mr. Ed. Munson will play the accompaniment.

The committee which has in charge the arrangements is composed of Messrs. W. F. Robertson, (chairman) L. Stein, Jack Bellamy, Warren S. Johnson and Ike Solomon.

The services will be tender and appropriate. The public is most cordially invited to attend them.

Wilmington Lodge of Elks has lost no members by death since it was organized two years ago, but the Memorial services are strictly according to the Grand Lodge mandates in Section 78, which is as follows:

"The first Sunday in December of each year is hereby designed and dedicated as a day in which shall be commemorated by every lodge of Elks, the memories of our departed brothers and it shall be known as 'The Elks' Memorial Day.'"

THE OPERA HOUSE LAST NIGHT.

Very Clever Production by Very Clever Company—"Wrong Mr. Wright."

Undoubtedly the banner attraction of the season at the Opera House was the presentation last night of the exceedingly clever farce comedy, "The Wrong Mr. Wright," by an exceedingly clever company of artists, headed by Mr. John Allison in the title role. The audience was not large—it should have been very much larger—but those who were present enjoyed an evening of pure, wholesome amusement. The play itself proved to be one of the best that the distinguished Broadhurst has given to the stage, and the lines were in excellent hands last night.

Mr. Allison, as the Wrong Mr. Wright, was decidedly the real article and his support was all that could be desired. H. C. Hockey, as Lord Brazenface, had a difficult part, which was refreshing for having not been overacted. Maud Allison, in Swedish character, and Miss Henrietta Oliver were alike clever in their interpretation of their respective rolls.

New Cape Fear Steamboat.

The steamer Highlander, the handsome new steamboat being built here by Mr. T. D. Love, will be ready for her trial trip on the Cape Fear this week. She will begin her regular schedule to Fayetteville on Monday, Dec. 2nd. She will be "the finest that ever came down the pike" when completed and will be a valuable adjunct to the river craft.

"THE GAY MR. GOLDSTEIN."

Roaring Farce That Will be Here To-morrow Night — Charlotte "Observer" Compliments It Very Highly.

The Charlotte Observer of Friday has the following criticism of "The Gay Mr. Goldstein," which will be seen here Monday night:

A crowded opera house witnessed last night the presentation of "The Gay Mr. Goldstein," and repeated and generous applause pronounced the players and the play exceedingly good.

"The Gay Mr. Goldstein" is one of the smartest productions that has been seen in this city in many a day. It is clever in conception; the situations are droll and ludicrous and the lines sparkle with originality and wit that demanded incessant laughter. The only Jew in the cast—by courtesy of impersonation—was Mr. Thos. J. Keogh as Mr. Goldstein, and he took the part in an inimitable manner. He was as a natural a personage as ever walked any stage, and his interpretation of the complicated emotions of Mr. Goldstein were artistic in sheer simplicity.

Advance notices of the play stated that it contained four stars and this promise was fulfilled. As Mrs. Goldstein Miss Mary Hampton was strong and unique. Her part demanded the temperament of an overbearing, foolishly jealous woman and in this she was realistic, though never less than attractive. Yet for a brief space—in three sentences—she found sharp antithesis to shrewish task and was superb in pathos—the note of the true woman who feels tensely.

The man George C. Boniface, Jr., as Mr. Reddy Rattleback, was an immense success. He comes of good stock and is quite clean, clever and forceful in the work. Barry Maxwell, as Mr. Robert Andrews, was hardly less popular. His guise was an Englishman of oddish type; bewigged, stiff, formal to provoke intense amusement—no easy part, mind you. And it was altogether well done.

Miss Frances Brooke made an excellent Fifi, while Miss Clara Armstrong as Louise, Miss Alma Powell as Henrietta and the members of the cast sustained their parts most creditably.

Will Manage Argyle Hotel.

Mr. Jos. H. Hinton will be manager of "The Argyle Hotel" in Charleston during the Exposition. The Argyle is a handsome new hotel situated in the center of the city, and is owned by Mr. Thos. Wilson, of Salem, S. C., president of the Northwestern railroad. The hostelry has modern equipment throughout and has about two hundred rooms, half of which have baths attached. Mr. Hinton will return to Wilmington in time to take charge of the Seashore Hotel at Wrightsville as usual during the Summer.

Hiram Moore In Newbern.

Newbern Journal, 23rd: "The case of Hiram Moore, who set fire to his mattress while confined in the city jail, was tried before Mayor Patterson yesterday at 11 o'clock. Moore was bound over to the next session of the Criminal Court and under failure to furnish bond was lodged in the county jail."

— Repairs are being made to the Hilton bridge by the Wilmington Railway Bridge Company.

SUNDAY MORNING, NOV. 24.

PLAYING WITH RECIPROCITY.

The convention of manufacturers which met in Washington Tuesday for the purpose of discussing the reciprocity question, took a good deal more interest in the question of continued tariff protection than it did in reciprocity. It was for protection first and for reciprocity next, provided that reciprocity didn't in any way interfere with the grip that protection gives them on the home market. It resolved in favor of that kind of reciprocity. After hearing from a number of the manufacturers present, only a few of whom declared for reciprocity in preference to protection, a committee appointed to draft resolutions expressive of the sense of the convention, reported as follows:

Whereas the growth of manufactures in the United States, represented in values and in round numbers, has been as follows:

1850	$1,000,000,000
1860	2,000,000,000
1870	4,000,000,000
1880	5,500,000,000
1890	9,000,000,000
1900	15,000,000,000

And whereas these figures exhibit at the same time (1) a splendid result for the past industrial policies of our Government and (2) a growing need for the development of larger markets in foreign countries; and,

Whereas it would seem desirable not only to maintain our policies under which such splendid results have been accomplished, but also devise means to develop increased markets for the increased and increasing manufactured products; therefore be it

Resolved, That this convention recommends to Congress the maintenance of the principle of protection for the home market and to open by reciprocity opportunities for increased foreign trade by special modifications of the tariff in special cases, but only where it can be done without injury to any of our home interests of manufacturing, commerce or farming.

That in order to ascertain the influence of any proposed treaty on our home interests this convention recommends to Congress the establishment of a reciprocity commission, which shall be charged with the duty of investigating the condition of any industry and reporting the same to the Executive and to Congress for guidance in negotiating reciprocity trade agreements.

These resolutions were adopted by a practically unanimous vote, there being only three votes in the negative, one of which changed to the affirmative, leaving but two against, one a tanner from Pittsburg, who wanted the duty removed from hides, the other a manufacturer of agricultural manchinery in Chicago. In arguing for free hides the former, among other things, said:

"Other countries are not interested in our tariff on hides. They have sale for all the hides they produce. To retain our duty does not reduce the price; to remove the duty would not secure for them any advance in price. If we are fools enough to charge ourselves an unnecessary tax they have sense enough to let us do it until we get tired. Are we unreasonable in asking prompt action of our representatives to relieve us of this burden and without delay correct a great wrong committed through a political compromise? Protests are coming from all sections and multitudes of manufacturers in various lines of trade are beating at the doors of our National Legislature clamoring for relief; but our Congressmen, like the clown's dull ass, will not mend their pace with beating."

This is a tanner talking, talking for himself, and condemning a policy which puts little if any money into the Treasury, and benefits only the Western trusts, which control the hide market in this country; but he was while speaking for himself speaking more for the shoe manufacturers of the country who are really more interested in free hides, which would mean cheaper leather to them, than the tanners are. The shoe manufacturers can in eight months make shoes enough to supply the home demand for twelve months, and consequently there must, if they depend upon the home market, reduce their output or go idle one-third of the year. Of course this means loss to them and the only way this can be averted, is by finding foreign markets for the surplus that cannot be sold at home. But in these foreign markets the American shoe-maker must compete with the shoe-makers of other countries, some, at least, of whom have the advantage of free hides and free leather. Doesn't it stand to reason that our shoemakers would be better able to compete with these foreign shoe-makers if they could buy cheaper leather? Possibly some of our manufacturers can compete now with their better methods and labor saving machinery, but they could do it much more easily, build up a large foreign trade and make larger profits if they could buy their leather as cheaply as the European manufacturers can. With free hides they could do that. When they could do that they could, if they would, give their home customers cheaper and better shoes for their money, for getting cheaper material they could afford to do that and make as large profits as they do now, and sell more shoes, too, which would mean greater profit on the aggregate year's work.

In speaking for reciprocity Mr. Deering, the representative of the Chicago manufactory of agricultural machinery, said:

"I want to say a word concerning the manufacture of harvesting machines. That is an industry producing a surplus, and that surplus is, to a large extent, sent to foreign markets. I come here as an advocate of manufacturers producing a surplus. That surplus must be sold abroad, and with reciprocal arrangements with foreign countries our markets there will be greatly broadened.

"It is true that a few manufacturers are opposed to reciprocity in the abstract. But we must consider this subject from a liberal standpoint and from the viewpoint of just what benefit it will accomplish for the whole people. We ought to ratify the reciprocity treaty with France. We must ratify it unless we wish to turn our backs upon our industrial destiny. The knit goods industry offers the most serious objection to the ratification of this treaty, but I say that with the enforcement of the provisions of this treaty we make reciprocity a living thing, a vital force and one with which America can march on to her destiny as the greatest manufacturing country in the world."

This is an industry which employs 8,000 men in manufacturing agricultural machinery and implements for export, not a small industry by any means. It not only employs these men, but it gives employment to many more who furnish the metal and timber used in the manufacture of those implements and machinery. With reciprocity and less tariff handicapping this business might be largely increased and markets found for all the machinery and implements they could supply. But this industry has been injured by a ruling of the Treasury in the interest of the Sugar Trust, when the Secretary of the Treasury ordered a countervailing duty on sugar from Russia, one of the largest buyers of American agricultural machinery.

Mr. Deering was doubtless thinking more about his own interests than about the public when he declared that a question like this should be viewed not from a narrow but a broader standpoint of "what benefit it would be to the whole people." The men whom he was addressing were not thinking about the whole people or what would benefit them, but about themselves and how they could keep their grip on the whole people. They showed that in the resolutions which they adopted, which, while professing to be for reciprocity, are only for that kind of reciprocity which will not reduce their hold on or profit from the home market. Mr. Deering concluded by warning them that if they did not approach this question in the right spirit and meet it squarely, after all that talk of reciprocity, the people would take the matter in their own hands after a while and smash the whole protection business.

Another reciprocity advocate, Mr. R. F. Young, of New York, believed in reciprocity which means something and talked sense in the following:

"The policy of selling everything and buying nothing is not sound. It will not stand argument. This is the time for the adoption of wise reciprocity treaties to strengthen our industries where it can be done and without hurting our manufactures to any extent. We should have reciprocity arrangements with Mexico, Australia, Canada and the South American countries. No one man should be allowed to make excessive profits to the detriment of other lines of business. We must sell our finished products in all the markets of the world, and this end cannot be accomplished without the adoption of reciprocity. Take the case of Japan for instance. We are now importing from that country every year $25,000,000 worth of goods and selling therein only $9 000,000 worth. With England this situation is exactly reversed, the figures being: Selling to Japan, $25 000,000, and buying, $5,000,000. With reciprocity arrangements we can effect the same situation as in the case of England."

The three men from whom we have quoted wanted reciprocity with something in it, reciprocity not simply with countries which produce things which we do not produce and buy things from us which they cannot produce, but reciprocity with countries whose trade amounts to a large item and would amount to much more if we bought some from them. But if we are to keep up the tariff wall against every country which may produce anything that would come into competition with any of the protected products, artificial or natural, of this country, what would reciprocity amount to and where would the American people, who are entitled to some consideration, or even the manufacturers be the material gainers by this so-called reciprocity?

But this is the kind that this manufacturers' convention declared for and that is the kind that will probably be favored by their agents who hold seats in Congress. The whole business is a ridiculous fake.

A GOOD EXHIBIT.

The exhibit published in THE STAR yesterday, showing the increase in manufacturing industries in this State within the past decade, as reported by the census of 1900, is a good one. The figures show an investment of over $76,500,000 capital; 7,226 establishments, nearly twice as many as ten years ago; 70,570 workers who draw $13,863,530 in wages. They paid $53,072,368 for material, an increase of 132 per cent., and turned out $94,919,633 worth of work, an increase of 135 per cent.

This includes the whole State, of conrse, but the bulk of the industries covered are located in a comparatively small area. The cotton and woollen factories, for instance, are mainly found in a narrow belt running through the center of the State, East and West, while the furniture making industry, which has assumed large proportions, is confined to a still more limited area in the same belt. Both are susceptible of indefinite enlargement within the same area, and both are still in their infancy. It would not be a wild prediction to say that the output of both, if not the number of plants, may be doubled by the end of the present decade, provided the country meet with no industrial reverses in the meantime.

There is so little parade over the industrial progress of our State that few of us fully realize what is being done until we see the figures presented, and then they come as a surprise to many of us.

With the variety of natural resources, the genial climate, the central location making it the great highway of travel between the North and South; the transportation by land and water, and its numerous and unlimited water powers flowing from the mountains southward throughout almost the entire length of the State, it is an ideal region for manufactories, in which it should and doubtless will take a front place in the near future.

Schlitz

The beer that made Milwaukee famous

You drink some beers that cause bilious headache. Perhaps you think that all beers do.

The cause of biliousness is the lack of age — too much haste to put the beer on the market. To ferment beer thoroughly requires a process of months. Without it the fermentation takes place in your stomach. That is the cause of biliousness.

Hurried beer is unhealthful. Schlitz beer is kept for months in refrigerating rooms with a capacity of 265,000 barrels — kept almost at freezing point until it is well fermented. Schlitz beer is never marketed until thoroughly aged.

FIGURES VERSUS SUBSIDIES.

Figures do not lie unless they are made to lie, and, therefore, the census figures bearing upon the ship building industry of this country, while there is so much scheming for subsidies, are interesting. The Brooklyn, N. Y., Citizen presents, with comment, the following epitome of the figures given by the census of 1900:

"The figures show that during the year 1900 the 1,083 shipbuilding establishments expended about $28,000,000 for labor, etc., and $33,000,000 for material, making a total outlay of, say, $61,000,000; and that the value of their products amounted to about $75,500,000.

"Now if the outgo be deducted from the income stated, we find the returns almost equal to 20 per cent. on the former, while if the $12,000,000 profit on the outlay be deducted from the capital named—$76,700,000—even if none of it be watered—the profits equal 16¼ per cent.

"Nobody need be told that this is an exceptionally rich return for a wholesale business—Wall street considers any stock of a par value of $100, which is paying 6 per cent. dividends, worth $150—and nobody can deny the statement that a subsidy is not needed to encourage or sustain any such business; while it is plain to all that if the tariff on shipbuilding materials were abolished, ships could be built here much cheaper than now without reducing the profits at all."

With the subsidy grabbers it isn't a question of the profits the ship yards are making, or their ability to compete with foreign ship yards. They know all that, but there is a pretty big surplus in the Treasury and they think while the surplus is there they will not have much difficulty in grabbing a part of it. That's one of the ways proposed of getting rid of the surplus, and making an excuse for the necessity of continued taxation that might and should be abolished.

CURRENT COMMENT.

— The average daily shipment of oil out of Beaumont is approximating 100 cars a day—tangible evidence that Texas fuel oil is finding a market, and a large one. It is said that if there were more cars available the shipments would be larger.—Mobile Register, Dem.

— The aftermath of the Roosevelt-Washington dinner is appearing. Negroes object to a group typifying negro life in the South which it is proposed to place in front of the negro building at the West Indian and Interstate exposition of Charlefton. The central figure of the group represents a negro woman bearing a basket of vegetables on her head. Their ideal is evsdently a negro in a silk hat swinging a cane.—Houston Chronicle, Ind.

— There appears to be a division of opinion among Republican Congressmen as to the wisdom of abolishing or reducing still further the war revenue taxes. "If the Ship Subsidy bill should pass," says one of the Ways and Means Committee, "we shall need some of that surplus." So, then, if you cut off the surplus, there will be no subsidy bill. As this would be to nip that flower in the bud, why not nip?—Brooklyn Citizen, Dem.

— At least the Reciprocity Convention will break the ice of protective conservatism. The time has gone by for the worship of a fetich that has done more to demoralize the people of the United States than any other policy of government ever ventured upon. At last the Protectionists themselves have discovered the defects and limitations of the scheme which seeks to build up certain favored interests at the expense of other interests.—Philadelphia Record, Dem.

— Winston Sentinel: Mr. Jeff Yokely, aged about 60 years, was found dead Tuesday afternoon two miles south of Union Cross, this county. He was sitting against a tree in a new ground which he was burning off. It was reported at first that he was burned to death, but investigation proved this to be a mistake. It is true however, that the fire had burned up to him. His shoes and pants were scorched. The family say he had been troubled with heart disease and this is given as the cause of his death.

— Sandford Express: The Sanford Furniture Manufacturing Company are now working day and night to catch up with their orders. The Sanford Sash and Blind Company are also behind with their orders and have to work at night. —There have been very few illicit distilleries destroyed in Moore county this year. The "moonshiners" have either gone out of business or else the revenue men are not doing their duty. The scarcity of corn will probably interfere with the business for the next twelve months.

— Lumberton Robesonian: Mr. Duncan Munroe, one of the oldest citizens of the county, died at his home in Alfordsville township Tuesday in the 88th year of his age. — The announcement of the death of Mrs. H. B. Jennings has cast a pall of deepest sadness over our town and community. For several days past her condition has been critical in the extreme, but hope of her recovery was not dispaired of until late Tuesday afternoon when life'e vital spark waned and her soul winged its flight toward the spirit land.

— Kinston Free Press: Intelligence reached Kinston Friday morning of a very sad and horrible occurrence in Woodington township, this county, Thursday afternoon. Miss Lena Turner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kit Turner, while no one was in the house but herself and aged mother, told her mother that she was going to commit suicide. She secured a bottle of carbolic acid that was kept in the house for the purpose of administering to stock, and before she could be prevented by her mother, drank half of the contents of the bottle. Mr. Turner, working about 200 yards from the house, heard his wife's screams and came immediately, but when he arrived, so quickly the deadly drug got in its work, the unfortunate woman was unconscious, and a few minutes later, before any antidotes could be administered, was dead. There is no apparent cause for the suicide. She was about 35 years of age and was highly thought of in the community. She was in apparent good health, always cheerful and seemed to enjoy life, and her horrible act is a great surprise and shook to the community in which she lived.

God above the tempest smiles
Through the clouds of sadness.
In the sunny afterwhiles
There is joy and gladness.

In the home, when toil is done,
One awaits to meet us,
There are little feet to run,
Laughing eyes to greet us,
After all, the world is fair,
God is good above us,

Some one else to love us.

There are songs of joy afar,

Hope can see a silver star

Past the future's open gate
Brighter days are gleaming,
Death and parting, wrong and hate,
These are only seeming.

Though disasters line the way
That awaits before me,
In the province of To-day
There is sunshine o'er me;
Onward through a fair To-Be
Is my spirit winging;
While a voice of melody
Through my heart is ringing.

PERUNA PROTECTS THE FAMILY.

Coughs and Colds. Grip and Catarrh.

The Roberts Family, of Falls City, Neb., Are Healthy and Happy—A Rare Sight in These Days. They Say, "We Think Peruna Is The Greatest Medicine On Earth."

No man is better known in the state of Nebraska than Mr. Carl T. Roberts, contractor and mason. A typical American—active, shrewd and full of business sagacity. He is not only a provider for his family, but a protector. In a recent letter to Dr. Hartman he writes, among other things, as follows:

"Our boy, James, had the membranous croup, and after he recovered he was subject to repeated attacks of lung fever. Our boy, Charlie, was also subject to attacks of pneumonia and pleurisy. Our third boy, John, was subject to fever and ague (malarial) and liver trouble. Your remedy, Peruna, cured my boys entirely, and now I have three of the healthiest boys in the state of Nebraska, which I attribute to your medicine. My wife had stomach trouble which Peruna also cured. Altogether for my whole family we have used nineteen bottles of Peruna, and have thus saved $500 in doctors' bills. I am a contractor and mason by trade, and am known all over Nebraska. I have had a stomach trouble which has been greatly relieved by your remedy, Peruna, for which I am still taking it. We think it is the greatest medicine on earth."—C. T. Roberts, Falls City, Nebraska.

Mr. T. G. Walker, Carneiro, Kansas, writes: "It is with pleasure that I report that I am better than I have been for many years. I believe Peruna is without a doubt the best medicine that was ever used in a family. It has cured my nervousness, with which I had been afflicted for a great number of years."

It is a fact of ever-increasing astonishment that so many otherwise sensible and provident people will, for the neglect of so simple a precaution as to have a bottle of Peruna at hand, bring upon themselves the needless suffering and foolish expense that a practitioner of medicine is forced to witness every day.

As soon as the value of Peruna is fully appreciated by every household, both as a preventive and cure of these affections, tens of thousands of lives will be saved, and hundreds of thousands of chronic, lingering cases of disease prevented. Peruna is a household safeguard.

COTTON MARKETS.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEW YORK, November 23.—The cotton market opened steady in tone with prices one to five points lower, a slim response to weak Liverpool cables and to predictions from the bear side for an increase in receipts, and immediately after the call the smaller holders sold out as a matter of precaution, while some of the bear leaders endeavored to shake out larger lines of cotton held by insiders and investors. But in contrast with the English market news was bad weather and a bountiful supply of bullish domestic news. Moderate to heavy rains over the eastern and central portions of the belt and unseasonably low temperatures in the west were said to be delaying gathering of crop. January climbed to 7.63 after the call, but as a general thing the market did not vary much from the opening bids in the absence of active outside demand or of strong bull leadership. Private cables attributed the heaviness abroad to active profit taking and pressure from the bear side The market closed steady with prices net unchanged to three points lower.

THE RICE ASSOCIATION OF AMERICA.

It Has Accomplished and Is Accomplishing Much for the Rice Grower.

WILMINGTON, N. C., Nov. 22.

EDITOR STAR: Dear Sir—Less than a year ago, and upon short notice, there assembled at Lake Charles, La., a convention of rice growers, rice factors and rice millers—in short, all those interested in the rice industry, throughout the gulf coast sections of Louisiana and Texas, where within the last few years rice growing has made such phenomenal strides, and where the industry has now reached such proportions that a statement as to the total expenditure in irrigating canals, rice farms and rice mills would sound like "a fairy tale."

This convention (which I believe to be the first organized effort in behalf of rice at large ever made in America) proved so congenial, so instructive and so thoroughly satisfactory from every standpoint that great efforts were at once made to perfect a permanent organization; so there and then, amid such sentiments as—

"Rice is an American staple food, nutritious and economical, and its increased consumption is to the interests of the consumer as well as the producer. Until rice is recognized as a staple article of food, and the cost of handling, from the producer to to the consumer is placed on the same basis, as the great staples, whose equal, if not superior it is, it is a discrimination, preventing the maximum of consumption in the United States."

The Rice Association of America, was born, inviting all those interested in the success of "rice in America" to lend a hand, and become one of us, in placing the industry on as sound a basis as our own loved country rests.

While not quite a year has elapsed since that eventful day, it would stagger the most sanguine to realize how much has been accomplished and the good thus far derived.

When we realize the area of soil adapted to the culture of rice is confined to few Southern States, can we of the Carolinas afford to let any such idea as sectionalism creep in?

Let's do away with State lines, and together assist in building up that distinctive Southern industry, by getting together, pulling together, and under the banner of the Rice Association of America, place the industry where it belongs, viz: on a paying basis for all sections of the rice belt. It can be done; will we, of the Carolinas, assist?

The first meeting of the Rice Association of America, since its organization, is to be held at Crowley, La., on December 12th, 1901, where the committee, to whom was intrusted the duty of presenting a constitution and by laws, will report. The organization is not in behalf of any one individual or section, but for all interested in rice, so let's bury State lines and attend. The initiation fee is one dollar, and its members will not be subjected to innumerable assessments or expenses. Every one is eligible, every one is invited, and a full attendance so earnestly desired. There will be matters of vital importance to the industry considered and discussed, and an aggregation of such talent, on all lines connected with the industry, that from an educational standpoint alone one can be repaid.

I earnestly trust the Carolinas will avail themselves of the privilege and opportunity and send a rousing delegation.

Very truly yours,
DRL. EVANS, Vice President.
The Rice Association of America.

PRESERVING EGGS.

The Lime and Salt Mixture and the Water Glass Solution.

With a view of testing the relative value of lime and salt mixtures and water glass as egg preservatives, we pickled about 60 dozen eggs in two lots. The mixtures were:

No. 1.—Lime, fresh, 3½ pounds; salt, 4¾ pounds; water, 8 gallons.

No. 2.—One part water glass to 18 parts water.

These eggs remained in the solutions for about six months. When examined, the water glass was found to be the best pickle, although the lime and salt served its purpose very well; still the whites of the eggs preserved in this mixture were much more watery than the whites of those preserved in the water glass. These were difficult to distinguish from fresh eggs, since the white was quite firm and yolk stood up upon it as though fresh. Another advantage in the water glass is that it does not seem to affect the shell of the egg as the lime mixture, eggs from the lime and salt mixture being much more liable to crack, either in cooking or handling. We consider this matter of preserving eggs of great importance in this state, since prices are so high for eggs in the winter season. We do not for a moment advise the selling of preserved eggs for fresh laid, but we have no hesitancy in saying that when the market finds that these preserved eggs seem almost as good as the fresh eggs it will certainly be willing to pay a price which will leave a good cash margin in favor of pickling. Water glass, or sodium silicate, is a liquid of rather a smooth, slippery consistency, readily soluble in water. It may be obtained through any druggist at a cost of about 75 cents a gallon. In using it we would advise the use of stone jars or crocks. The water used should be quite pure, and if not it must be boiled. The jar should be covered to exclude any dirt and kept at the temperature of a cool cellar. Sometimes the specific gravity of the solution is greater than that of the eggs, in which case the tendency will be for them to float, when they may be forced down by a plate or similar arrangement with a weight on top. —Bulletin 26, Montana Agricultural Experiment Station, Bozeman, Mon.

THE LAMBING SEASON.

Points For Novices on Management of Young Ewes.

Every sound principle of physiology goes to show that the ewe, like every other domestic animal, should be suffered to remain as quiet as possible for some time after parturition. There should be no hasty interference with a newly born lamb if it appears to be doing well. But if, on making the usual efforts, it fails to obtain a supply of milk the ewe should at once be examined. The natural flow of milk does not always, particularly in young ewes, commence immediately after lambing, though in a few hours it may be abundant. In this case the lamb should be fed in the meantime artificially. Sometimes, too, when a ewe has a full udder of milk the openings of the teats are so firmly closed that the lamb cannot force them open. The pressure of the human fingers, lubricated with a little moisture, will usually overcome the difficulty. The sucking of the lamb will generally keep the orifice open afterward, but it may require a little looking after.

A young ewe, owing partly perhaps to the novelty of her situation and partly sometimes either to her excessive fondness for or indifference toward her lamb, will not stand for it to suck as soon as it makes the attempt, but will turn about to caress it or will step a little away. In cold weather she may thus interpose a dangerous delay to its feeding. If she is caught and held by the neck until the udder is once well drawn out, she will generally require no further attention.

It will sometimes be found that a ewe which refuses to stand to be sucked by her lamb will be found to have a hot, hard, inflamed udder, particularly if she is in high condition and lambs late in the season. In this case the udder should be fomented for some time with hot water containing a weak infusion of opium. The oftener the fomentation is repeated the sooner the inflammation will subside and the proper flow of milk ensue. If a ewe has lost her lamb and from neglect the udder has become swollen and indurations have formed in it, iodine ointment is one of the best applications.

WEANING PIGS.

The Main Thing Is to Keep Them Growing Steadily.

As soon as pigs are old enough to begin to eat food other than that which they receive from their mother a small pen should be so constructed as to admit pigs, but exclude the mother, and a small trough placed in it where milk or slop may be placed with a little shelled corn, so that the pigs can eat at pleasure without being disturbed by their mother, says an Ohio grower in National Stockman and Farm. By this means the young pig soon learns to rely less upon its dam for nourishment and more upon that which it gets itself.

Besides, when weaning time comes the dams may be taken away from the pigs, and neither will experience any inconvenience from the change. Certainly, if care is taken the pigs will not be checked in growth the least particle, but will keep on growing just the same. Last year we weaned 52 head, and under such treatment as outlined above they weighed an average of 100 pounds at 4½ months old. This was not an extraordinary growth, and yet it was very satisfactory when we consider there were 52 of them.

The main idea is to keep the young pig growing steadily from birth, as any check it may receive at this time will require more labor and feed to develop it than it otherwise would. It is just as easy and decidedly more profitable to the grower to provide such food and conditions as will keep a steady, healthy growth in the pig from start to finish as it is to let them go it on the "root hog or die" plan and have them not only unequal in size, but stunted in appearance and requiring more time and feed to bring them out than are necessary.

THE LATEST AS TO NERVES AND STRENGTH

It is not muscle so much as the nerves back of muscle which show one's strength and power of endurance. And the study with able physicians of to-day is how to keep the nerves in perfect health and fitted for the strain of everyday living. Headache of every type, nerve weakness, dyspepsia, sleeplessness, languor, restlessness, nervous dyspepsia, muscular weakness, brain weariness, poor circulation,—a thousand different unpleasant feelings and symptoms are due to nerve waste and nerve weakness,—especially in women and children. But how can all this be prevented, one will ask? How can my broken-down constitution be repaired, and nerve strength and full, robust health be secured. Just two points to remember. Determine that you will grow strong in nerves and health, and decide to use at once that most famous nerve cure, CUCELLIN. It is delicious in taste, quick in action and makes the wearied nerves tingle with renewed strength and every function the stronger and facility the brighter by its use. Druggists sell it.

SUNDAY MORNING, NOV. 24.

SENSATIONAL ARREST IN MEMPHIS, TENN.

Mrs. Emma Hooks, a Woman of Wealth and Prominence, Charged With the Murder of Her Husband

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

MEMPHIS, TENN., November 23.—The grand jury to-day returned an indictment against Mrs. Maud Emma Hooks, prominently known, charging her with the murder by poison of her husband. Several weeks ago C. G. Hooks, a well known business man, died under suspicious circumstances. A chemist was ordered to exhume the remains of Hooks and perform an autopsy. The chemist reported to the coroner that he had found enough powdered glass and arsenic in the stomach to cause death. The case was immediately placed before the grand jury.

MEMPHIS, TENN., Nov. 23.—Later in the day Sheriff Blackwell placed Mrs. Hooks under arrest. She was told she would not be confined in jail, but that the deputy would remain in the residence until a bond could be arranged. Mrs. Hooks expressed no surprise at her arrest and said that from the train of events the last few days she rather expected that an indictment would be found against her. "I am innocent of the crime," was her only comment.

At 4 o'clock this afternoon Judge Cooper, of the Criminal Court, fixed bail at $20,000, which was promptly furnished by Mrs. Hooks, and she was released from custody. She will be called upon to plead to the indictment on Monday next.

Mrs. Hooks was born and reared in Memphis, her maiden name having been Georgie Emma Ashcraft. She was married several years ago to W. H. Atkinson, a well known and wealthy business man. Mr. Atkinson died October 2, 1898, and two years later his widow married Cerro Gordo Hooks, who came to Memphis from Mississippi and was a partner in the firm of the R. M. Mansford Company. Mrs. Hooks is reported to be quit ewealthy, and lives in one of the most commodious residences in Memphis.

MRS. ELIZABETH HOWE DALE.

Woman Accused of Killing Her Child Declares That She Could Derive No Benefit From Its Death.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEW YORK, November 23.—Elizabeth Howe Dale, who is accused of the murder of her five-year old child, Emeline, is still in St. Mary's hospital, Hoboken, where she was taken after her arraignment in court. She is said to be much improved in her physical condition. Mrs. Dale is under guard day and night.

In trying to establish a motive for the alleged crime it has been asserted that according to the will of her father Mrs. Dale would become the sole beneficiary in the event of her child's death. Mrs. Dale, however, claims that she derives her income from the estate of her grand-father and that it is her's during her life time. She could derive no benefit, as she is said to have declared, by the death of her child, and she pronounces the story ground less and denounces it as a cruel outrage.

Elbert Waller, arrested for maintaining improper relations with Mrs. Dale, was released to-day on $1,000 cash bail. The money was deposited by a representative of the Dutch consul.

The body of the Dale child was placed in a casket to day but will not be buried at once. By direction of the father it will be kept at one of the receiving vaults at Hoboken.

TRAGEDY ON A STEAMSHIP.

Crazy Passenger Attempts to Kill His Wife and Commits Suicide.

By Cable to the Morning Star.

QUEENSTOWN, Nov. 23.—As the steamer Cymric, from Liverpool yesterday for New York, was coming down the channel this morning Thomas Halliday, of Ohio, one of her passengers, attempted to kill his wife and then committed suicide. Halliday had recently been complaining of sleeplessness. He and his wife boarded the Cymric at Liverpool after passing a couple of months visiting in county Down, Ireland. The husband prayed all night and showed evidence this morning that his mind was affected. After breakfast he announced that all people on board the ship were to be killed, and drawing a knife he commenced hacking his wife and slashing at his throat. Mrs. Halliday struggled desperately to secure possession of the weapon, receiving terrible gashes on her hands and neck and was finally obliged to desist. Halliday then continued to hack his own throat until he had severed all the veins and muscles and dropped dead outside his state room.

SHIP IN DANGER.

Large Vessel Drifting Ashore Off Monmouth, New Jersey.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—A large three-masted ship is lying in a dangerous position off Monmouth, N. J. She is slowly dragging her anchors and drifting ashore. There is a very heavy sea running and the wind is blowing about forty knots. It is impossible to launch the life boats, but the crews from stations Nos. 4 and 5 are on the beach ready to shoot a line to the ship as soon as she strikes.

At midnight the ship was about three hundred yards from shore and appeared to be hard aground.

A London dispatch says there is nothing serious the matter with Count Tolstoi. He had a relapse of malarial fever, but is in no danger.

COLLEGE FOOTBALL GAMES YESTERDAY

North Carolina Defeated in Contest for the Championship of the South.

HARVARD BEATEN BY YALE.

Thirty-six Thousand Spectators On the Grounds—Yale Whitewashed—Score 22 to Nothing—A Yale Man Seriously Hurt.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NORFOLK, VA., Nov. 23.—The University of Virginia captured the football championship of the South here to day by defeating the University of North Carolina by the score of 23 to 6. Carolina scored her first and only touchdown within five minutes of the start of the game. Faust went over the line a follow to Graves' long punt which Virginia fumbled.

Virginia used a tackle back formation throughout the game and played havoc with Carolina's line. Captain Coleman, of the Virginias, had to get out of the game in the second half. His place was taken by Church, who made the only real sensational run of the game, being for forty yards and a touchdown.

The game was played in a steady rain and was witnessed by seven thousand people who were equally divided in sympathy for the two teams. The victors and vanquished were tendered a reception at the Norfolk Country Club this evening.

Harvard Beats Yale.

CAMBRIDGE, MASS., Nov. 23.—Vengeance never sweeter and victory never more decisive came to Harvard this afternoon, when her eleven defeated Yale—22 to 0. Three touchdowns, two of which were converted into goals, and a goal from the field, of brilliant execution, were Harvard's portion. For Yale there was nothing but a whitewash. The Harvard men required about five minutes in which to start their football machinery. After that Yale was never in the playing. In scrimmage tactics, line plunging, hurdling and skirting, punting and drop-kicking the Yale men were completely outclassed. The Harvard players also gave a demonstration of uniform playing that was remarkable, and as a result the colors of the crimson waved in delirious joy during the greater portion of the two hours occupied in the contest.

Thirty six thousand spectators, a greater number than ever before gathered at a football game, watched the gridiron battle from the mammoth stands Three-quarters of the enormous crowd cheered Harvard, while 9,000 sympathizers tried to encourage the overwhelmed wearers of the blue.

Harvard presented a team, the personnel of which was unchanged from start to finish and the players who won glory for the crimson were almost as full of dash when the referee's whistle sounded for the last time as they were when it sounded for the opening kick off. Yale, on the other hand, required sixteen men to meet the onslaught of the Harvard plungers. Panic came to Yale and sympathy went out to Yale from the Harvard thousands when the crack quarter back, Desaulles, as a result of a flying tackle, which prevented another Harvard score, was hurt. A blow on the head made him unconscious. Later it became necessary to remove him from the field on a stretcher.

In the Locker building after the game Harvard's players were all in the highest spirits. Not a man was seriously injured. Kerman's weak ankle was strained a little and Cutts hurt his knee slightly, but the rest of them showed no effects beyond a few scratches and black eyes.

The Yale team was very despondent and took their defeat hard. There were many who limped badly. Desaulles was the worst injured. He was kicked on the head and it was thought at first that he had concussion of the brain.

Cornell vs Vermont.

ITHICA, N. Y., Nov. 23.—Cornell vanquished Vermont to-day by the score of sixty eight to nothing. With the exception of three or four minutes in the first half the ball remained in Cornell's possession throughout the game and the Ithicans were not held for downs during the contest.

GERMANY CONTINUES TO RING WITH PROTESTS.

By Cable to the Morning Star

BERLIN, November 23.—Germany continues to ring with protests against the reference which Mr. Chamberlain, the British colonial secretary, made to the German army in his speech at Edinburg. Meetings are being held every day and there is no sign of abatement of the agitation.

The Pastors' Society of Gladbach is circulating a protest which has already received the signatures of six hundred and eighty pastors. The Wurtemburg Veterans' Society has issued a warning against attaching too great importance to one man's utterances.

The letter from Mr. Chamberlain's secretary is pronounced here to be quite unsatisfactory, for, as the papers note, Mr. Chamberlain takes nothing back. The press generally regards the letter as another insult, and reject the assumption that the anti-British movement is artificial. On this latter point the Cologne "Volks Zeitung" asserts that the movement is as spontaneous as it is possible to imagine, adding that the government has tried by every means to suppress it but has failed.

Other papers describe the movement as being the most remarkable of its kind ever witnessed. The Liberal organs, like the "Tageblatt" and the "Vossische Zeitung", try to prove that the movement is directed exclusively against Mr. Chamberlain and not against Great Britain, but the "Frankfurter Zeitung" admits that German patriotic feeling has been inflamed in an unmistakable manner against Great Britain.

The United Fruit Company's steamer Ethelred, which grounded November 21st on the north side of the island of Jamaica, while loading fruit for New York, has become a total wreck.

ONLY EIGHT DAYS TO THE OPENING.

The South Carolina Interstate and West Indian Exposition—Everything On the Rush—Fine Prospects.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

CHARLESTON, S. C., Nov. 23.—The week ends with the opening of the South Carolina Interstate and West Indian Exposition only eight days off and all the builders and exhibitors on the rush. The United States marine corps has gone into camp on the Exposition grounds for the entire Exposition period. The government fisheries exhibit has arrived and will be installed within the next few days. Nearly all the asphalt roadways in the grounds have been laid. The principal groups of statuary have been placed in the Court of Palaces. A car load of art exhibits, valued at $80,000, came last night, and several more are on the way from Buffalo and New York. The interiors of the buildings are being beautified by their rich decorations, and the merchants and manufacturers of the city have declared their intention to make the opening day a public holiday. The grand parade on Monday, December 2d, will be under the command of Lieutenant Colonel Charles Morris, of the United States army. A letter was received from Secretary Long today, saying that the ships of the North Atlantic squadron will be at Charleston as near the opening day as possible and the great undertaking is developing into the most significant event that has taken place in the South in the last quarter of a century. Some weeks ago a delegation from the Exposition Committee conferred with the Secretary of War at Washington as to the practicability of sending one of the government transport ships to Cuba to bring a large number of Cuban merchants and planters to the Exposition for the purpose of examining the conditions of cotton manufacturing in this country, with the view of extending the markets for American goods in the West Indies. A letter was received from the Secretary of War to day saying that the ship would be sent on this mission of peace and it is expected that there at Charleston some time during the Exposition which will open a new door for the cotton products of the South and New England in a country which is now largely supplied by foreign manufacturers. This is one of the first practical proofs of the great importance of the Exposition from a commercial and industrial standpoint and there will be a great many more, as the full purposes of the enterprise will develop from time to time.

Will be a "Cuban Day,"

The interest in the Exposition is growing steadily every day. Two or three days ago the construction of the Louisiana Purchase Company's building was begun and the site has been finally determined upon for the Alaskan exhibit and to day the site was selected for the Cincinnati building. The Philadelphia building will be formally accepted by the commissioners from that city during the next few days and the Illinois building is ready to receive its furniture and all lucky visitors who shall have the good fortune to be entertained under its hospitable roof. There is nothing like it in the eventful history of this town.

EIGHT MINE OFFICIALS SACRIFICE THEIR LIVES.

All Hope of Saving Them Abandoned. Rescuing Party Unable to Penetrate the Mines.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

POCAHONTAS, VA., Nov. 23.—All hope of finding the eight mining officials who entered the West mine yesterday to search for bodies entombed by the recent explosion in the Baby mine, has been about abandoned. Up to 1 P. M. nothing had been heard from them. A rescuing party entered the mine this morning, but were able to proceed only three hundred yards. They found a coat of Superintendent O'Malley hanging on a peg about two hundred yards in the mine, but discovered no other trace of the party.

The mining experts now here have decided upon a plan of attempted rescue, but the mine officials refuse to give any information to the public. It is said that another effort will be made this evening to enter the mine. Hopes have been entertained up to this morning that the party had escaped through the Tug river outlet, ten miles distant, and messengers were dispatched at an early hour to this point. They failed to find any trace of the party. Assistant Superintendent King, who led the rescuing party yesterday and who was overcome by black damp, has entirely recovered. He says it is impossible for a human being to live fifteen minutes in a mine in the condition in which was the one his party entered yesterday. It has been raining hard since morning and the main entrance to the mine presents a gloomy appearance with the friends and relatives of the missing men standing around.

At 9 o'clock to-night nothing had been heard from the missing mine officials. No effort has been made to enter the mine since early morning, it being impossible to do so on account of the enormous accumulation of gases from the Baby mine. Until the passages connecting the two mines are entirely closed and the gas forced out by means of large fans it will be impracticable to explore the mines. Large forces are working day and night to free the mines from gas, but it is impossible now to form any definite idea as to when the mines will be considered safe for searching parties to enter. Some who are familiar with the mines claim that it may be several days before such party could enter.

C. S. Thorne, of Philadelphia, the secretary and treasurer of the company, is still on the ground and is in direct charge, sparing neither expense or energy in an effort to recover the bodies. President Campbell, of Philadelphia, is enroute to the scene and is expected to arrive to-morrow morning.

The fire has now been burning ten days. Including the eight missing men the probable total death list during the period numbers seventeen persons.

As late as six o'clock this evening hundreds were gathered about the mine entrance anxiously awaiting some tidings.

KENTUCKY MINE TROUBLE.

Strikers Continue Defiant—Gen. Murray Preparing to Enforce Judge's Order.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

MADISONVILLE, KY., Nov. 23.—The striking union men continued defiant and remain to night in camp near the mines. They hold that the order of Judge Hall is illegal and treat it with contempt.

The strikers are in camp to night in greater numbers than before, notwithstanding the time limit of Judge Hall's order that the camps should be disbanded and moved out of the county expired more than twelve hours ago. General Murray is preparing to enforce Judge Hall's order.

ALBAN'S FORCE WAS DEFEATED.

FAVORABLE TO THE LIBERALS

By Cable to the Morning Star.

COLON, COLOMBIA, November 23.—Many versions are current, all based in favor of the Liberals, regarding the whereabouts and fate of Gen. Alban's expedition, which left Panama on Sunday last. The following is the most authentic and plausible:

On arriving off Perequete, distant about thirty miles from Panama and ten miles beyond Chrorrera, as the crow flies General Alban, on the gunboat Boyaca, sent forward two schooners which grounded. The Liberals, on land, immediately poured a terrible rifle fire upon these vessels, causing much havoc on board. General Alban then ordered the Boyaca's boats to go to the assistance of the schooners. The crew of the Boyaca accompanied with the result that many of them were wounded and the boats returned to the Boyaca. When ordered for the second time to go to the assistance of the schooners the boats' crews refused, on the ground that it was useless to do so and that such a step meant sure death to them. Hence the Boyaca returned to Panama on Thursday night, taking many wounded men with her. The Liberals claim that three hundred men of Gen. Alban's force were captured in this way and that they now strengthen the Liberal ranks.

It had been held all along that Gen. Alban undertook no easy task when he attempted to land troops in the vicinity of Chrorrera The General's return to Panama was looked forward to with great hopes, but when he returned in the manner in which he did, many people there were discouraged and downcast, which leads to the belief that the gravity of the situation is recognized.

The Boyaca, with Gen. Alban on board, started again yesterday morning from Panama, her destination presumably being Perequete.

It is not safe to consider the overland road from Cherrorra to Empire station under complete Liberal control, as otherwise the full Liberal force would doubtless have already arrived at Empire station. Yesterday's estimate that a thousand men had arrived at the station proves to have been exaggerated, but it is certain that troops are coming in all the time.

Nothing has been heard of the land force which left Panama on Sunday last, but it is reasonable to conclude that it is now harrassing the movements of the Liberal forces.

The Columbian gunboat Gen. Pinzon, which escaped from Colon when this town was captured by the Liberals November 19th, arrived safely at Cartagena and there spread the news of the capture of the city.

The French cruiser Suchet was there, on her way to Martinique, and she hurried back to Colon, arriving here this morning.

The United States gunboat Marietta has arrived here from Key West.

The situation along the railroad line is unchanged. There is no interruption of isthmian transit.

Jordan, of the Northern Methodist Church, were admitted into the conference, and together with Edward P. Green, late a clergyman of the Episcopal Church, were formally received into membership.

HOLLAND SUBMARINE BOAT.

With Three Officers and Fifteen Men to be Submerged Fifteen Hours.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

CATCHOGUE, LONG ISLAND, Nov. 23.—In order to demonstrate the length of time that an Holland submarine boat can remain below water and still support human life, the Fulton, with three officers and a crew of five men, was submerged in the harbor to-night and will not come to the surface again until 10 o'clock to morrow morning, a period of fifteen hours. The test is the severest ever attempted and a large number of spectators assembled on the company's wharf to-night and watched the boat sink slowly beneath the water with her crew.

At 7 o'clock the turret was closed and slowly the Fulton went under the surface, with Lieut. Arthur McArthur, U. S. N., in command. Besides this officer, there were Rear Admiral John Lee, U. S. N., (retired), Captain Frank T. Cable, of the Holland Torpedo Company, and her crew of five men of the navy. The Fulton is submerged in fifteen feet of water, giving her top a six-foot distance under water.

The government yacht Sylph, on which President Roosevelt and party left Washington Friday, returned yesterday afternoon, and after disembarking, the Roosevelt children and the nurses who accompanied them, again started down the Potomac. The President and Mrs. Roosevelt are expected to return to-day.

MURDER TRIAL AT ASHEVILLE.

Negro Escaped Hanging Because the Jury Determined the Verdict by Lottery.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

ASHEVILLE, N. C., Nov. 23.—John Miller, a negro, who was convicted of killing a negro woman and cutting up her body, escaped hanging because the jury determined the verdict by lottery. To-day it was shown that the jury, standing six for murder in the first degree and six in the second degree, placed in a hat two slips of paper one for the first and the other for the second degree and a blindfolded juryman drew the first degree slip.

The jury all agreed to stand by the result. To-day they said they thought it was a fair test, but the judge set the verdict aside and a plea of guilty in the second degree was taken and thirty years sentence imposed.
